

Antigua and Barbuda has been nominated for Caribbean's Best Emerging Culinary City Destination 2026 by the World Culinary Awards — after winning the same title in 2025. A back-to-back win would cement our twin-island nation as a must-visit destination for food lovers worldwide and a powerful signal that our culinary identity, rooted in local culture and creativity, is gaining serious global recognition.

Help us defend the title! Vote before August 14, 2026 at the official World Culinary Awards website:
